Report 2018

In June 2018, an International Business Director has been appointed to coordinate and deploy all Business For Mission activities on a part-time basis. This has ensured that Business For Mission has gained momentum.

Business training and coaching (objectives 1 and 2)

Uganda

In June, we trained a group of about one hundred Ugandan church planters, pastors and members of the congregation in the five-day Pioneer Business Planting Training. Among the participants were eight leaders of the church planting movement in Uganda. In the last years they have started around 900 house churches among the prostitutes, drug addicts, ghettos and among a unreached people groups. The church planting activities are currently expanding to eight other African countries.

The eight church planters have learned how they can start businesses so that they become self-sustainable and at the same time make disciples. After a lot of local research and business coaching, they have written a business plan for a maize mill for the local staple food, called “Posho”.

This business will can help the whole church planting movement to become self-sustainable. Farmers can sell their corn to the mill, church planters work at the mill and the church members can buy / sell the maize flour. See below a diagram of the process.

Malawi

In August we trained 29 church planters from our team in Malawi in Pioneer Business Planting. Over the years, this team has started 60 to 100 churches, also among an unreached people group. The coaching team coached them on a weekly basis.

Based on this, the participants have written (partly) the following business plans:

- Taxi business to reach unreached people groups in the North of Malawi (and further into Tanzania, Zambia and Mozambique).
- Firewood business (from natural firewood WE DON'T CUT TREES) for the leaders of the movement. By selling the firewood they interact with people and tell them about Jesus and make disciples.
- Business plans for a restaurant, new ways of farming and a textile factory are in the making.

The leaders of our team applied the lessons immediately by asking the question in the communities where they work: "What kind of product or service you do not have access to, would you like to have access?"

Participants evaluated the working methods of their farms. Based on market research they came up with several ideas that they assessed on profitability. Based on this research they decided to stop farming the maize because it wasn't profitable, and starting growing rice instead.

Develop a global team of three trainers / coaches (objective 3)

Two All Nations workers from America and Taiwan have been involved in training for the first time in 2018 and will continue to train in 2019, also in other locations. A small group of local people have been recruited who will participate in the training in 2019. By doing this, local ownership is created and more local trainings can be given in the future.

Our team leaders in Malawi have already used the materials extensively to train other disciples in business principles.

Develop fundraising and communication strategy (objective 4)

At the end of 2018 we launched the website <http://businessformission.org/> with stories, articles and the option to donate online.

In addition, a fundraising plan for the next three years has been developed to raise provide a sustainable base of income for the projects. We focus on raising support from foundations, businesses, churches and individuals. A foundation from America has given the Business For Mission project a grant for at least two years.
